

| Chemical designation / Synonyms | Product description |
|--|----------------------------|
|--|----------------------------|

C₄H₂MgO₄

Magnesium fumarate is the magnesium salt of fumaric acid, which is obtained by bringing about a chemical reaction.

Fumaric acid is an endogenous substance. It is an intermediate in the human metabolic cycle. The salts of fumaric acid are referred to as fumarates.

Magnesium fumarate can be used in the fields of pharmaceuticals, foods and food supplements.
