

Chemical designation / Synonyms Product description

K₃PO₄
E340 (iii)
Tripotassium phosphate

Potassium phosphate is a colorless to white potassium salt of phosphoric acid. It is odorless and easily soluble in water. Potassium phosphate is industrially obtained by bringing about a chemical reaction.

In the food industry potassium phosphate is used as an acidity regulator, common salt substitute and in beverages. Moreover, potassium phosphate is used in the areas of food supplements and pharmaceuticals.
